Chairman’s Good News Items

1st Vice Chairman Olszewski-Kubilius reported good news items:

On August 26, the Class of 2017 participated in IMSA’s 7th annual Day of Service. 238 volunteers helped at the Northern Illinois Food Bank, United Way/Fox River Clean Up, Mutual Ground, Kane County Forest Preserves, Batavia Park District, Oswego Park District, Garfield Farm, and Fermi Lab for a total of 570 hours of service.

One of our new sophomores, Pranav Sivakumar, has been selected as one of 15 finalists in the international Google Science Fair. His winning project, “Morphological Identification of Wide-Separation Gravitationally Lensed Quasars,” deals with the ratio between dark matter and dark energy and the effect that ratio has on the future of the universe. He travels to Google Head Quarters in Mountain View, CA in early September to present his project to the judges.

Our alumni continue to distinguish themselves. University of Illinois Assistant Professor of Bioengineering and Class of 1998 graduate Princess Imoukhuede has helped make “significant progress in personalizing angiogenesis inhibition cancer treatments,” according to a recent University of Illinois news feature. These treatments fight cancer by stopping the formation of new blood vessels. Princess’ lab is working to understand why the tumor behaves differently in different cases, and then find out how to identify those patients and therefore personalize the medicine they are given. Her lab has been making headway into understanding the tumor microenvironment, finding cells that haven’t been profiled before, and has recently published four papers on the topic.

Chairman Griffin again welcomed Dr. José Torres to IMSA, pointing out that though he joined us in August, today was his first Board meeting as President. She thanked him for saying yes to IMSA and said the Board looked forward to his leadership and contributions, beginning with his Listening and Learning Plan and other items in his initial Report of the President.

Chairman Griffin also thanked Cathy Veal for saying yes to IMSA again, commenting that when the Board needed and asked her in early 2013 to serve as President during a time of significant leadership transitions and its search, she agreed to take this on, though she had other options and never aspired to be in this role. Chairman Griffin said Ms. Veal navigated well and the Board was grateful.

She also recognized Britta McKenna and Mary Spreitzer for their services as Board Secretaries Pro Tem during the transition period adding that Britta was not present because she was advancing IMSA’s STEM innovation and entrepreneurship work in Chicago.

Report of the Treasurer

Kimberly Corrao highlighted FY14 financial results. Total FY14 expenditures from all funds is $22,086,276. Total lapsed Education Assistance Fund appropriation is only $32,300. Ms. Corrao reported that the Academy’s final FY14 Contribution Report reflects a decrease in net assets of about $155,000. This is the amount by which FY14 expenditures exceeded FY14 revenues. This decrease is less than previously projected due to the shifting of expenditures from the Income and Local Funds to either the Education Assistance Fund or the Special Purpose Trust Fund. For the same time period cash reserves in the Income Fund and Locally Held Fund decreased by about $250,000. She noted that during FY14 grants funded about 4.2% of IMSA’s total operating costs, compared with 4.7% in FY13.

Ms. Corrao highlighted FY15 financial results as of August 31, 2014. Year to date expended and encumbered funds are about $880,000 more than the prior year with the largest increase in personal services and contractual services. The budgeted contributions report projects expenditures will exceed revenue by $833,737. This is due to IMSA’s portion of the expenditures related to completion of the residence halls project. Excluding these expenditures the FY15 contribution report would reflect a surplus of $26,000. Projected ending cash reserves balance is $2,670,000. FY15 Grant Funding to date is $806,000 which is about four times greater than last year. This is primarily due to the timing of the receipt of the annual unrestricted award from the IMSA Fund.

He said his reference for this presentation was a book called The First 90 Days; Critical Success Strategies for New Leaders at All Levels. He reviewed the Values and Beliefs grounding his Plan, shared thoughts on keys to continued success at IMSA, projected aspirational accomplishments for the next 5-7 years, commented on the importance of his Plan, and reviewed goals for the first 90 days. He said the key elements of his Plan were listening, gathering, analyzing and reporting, and elaborated on each, noting key stakeholders with whom he had met thus far or would be talking with soon (Trustees; IMSA leadership staff; IMSA Fund directors and major donors; faculty, staff and student focus groups; parents, alumni, community, and civic leaders; government and elected officials; and business and state leaders including ISBE, IBHE, Golden Apple, Illinois Science and Technology Coalition, 1871).

Information and Discussion Items

Professional Field Services: Statewide Educator Initiatives (Summer 2014)
Executive Director of Professional Field Services (PFS) Michelle Kolar reviewed the PFS reorganization into two initiatives to better use resources, increase collaboration among programs and support program scalability. She said Statewide Educator Initiatives (SEI) promotes educator learning throughout Illinois with programs and events that advance STEM content expertise and increase pedagogical knowledge, and Statewide Student Initiatives (SSI) creates learning opportunities through programming and partnering for Illinois students to engage in STEM content that promotes STEM literacy, 21st Century Skills and Scientific Inquiry.

Ms. Kolar focused on how Statewide Educator Initiatives align with and advance IMSA’s second legislative charge to “stimulate further excellence for all Illinois schools in mathematics and science.” She said this summer’s SEI professional development offerings (Golden Apple Scholars Institute, Teacher Candidate Institutes, Problem-Based Learning Professional Development, IMSA FUSION Professional Development) served pre-service and in-service teachers from Aurora to Australia.

She said the SEI model of professional development blends constructivist-based pedagogy and STEM-focused content; participants experience classroom ready activities prepared specifically to provide an opportunity to practice teaching skills and strategies. Topics are designed with an emphasis on partnership and extended support including continued face to face sessions, observation and evaluation, and online professional learning community participation.

She highlighted program costs and revenues, numbers of programs, numbers of participants, short-term outcomes and challenges.

Trustees discussed various issues, and Ms. Kolar responded to questions. Chairman Griffin and Dr. Torres thanked Ms. Kolar for her presentation.

IMSA’s Class of 2017

Director of Admissions Kelly Lofgren reviewed aspects of IMSA’s Admissions Policy, noted that the Policy last reviewed and amended by the Board in 2013 and that Retired Director of Admissions Dr. LuAnn Smith was providing recommendations to consider going forward.
She then gave an overview of IMSA’s Class of 2017 -- 654 eligible applicants, 236 accepted, 45 waitlisted. Thirty-four students were offered admittance but declined. The Class of 2017 enrolled 118 males and 120 female with a higher ratio of eighth graders (146) applying this year.

Ms. Lofgren said the Admissions team planned to focus more on Southern Illinois and Metro East areas in the future. She previewed several new marketing and recruitment strategies. Chairman Griffin complimented staff on how they followed up with strong eighth grade candidates to encourage them to reapply next year.

Trustees discussed various issues, and Ms. Lofgren responded to questions.

Chairman Griffin and Dr. Torres thanked Ms. Lofgren for her presentation.

Chairman Griffin announced that the next Regular Board meeting will be held on November 19, 2014, with the Executive Committee scheduled to meet on October 22, 2014.
