Shakespeare
Fall 2019 Course Syllabus & Policies

Teacher: Mr. Michael Dean
Office: A136A
Contact: (630) 907 – 5057 Email: mdean@imsa.edu
Office hours: Tuesday (B Day) 9:00 – 10:00 or by appointment (see my office door for details)

Course Description:

In this course, we just learn to interpret, analyze, and perform the works of William Shakespeare. We will be critical thinkers and close readers. We will examine the conventions of tragedies, comedies, histories, romances, and problem plays. Literary criticism and literary theory will complement our readings.

Meeting Days/Times

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Room</th>
<th>Schedule</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1:20 – 2:15 pm</td>
<td>A119</td>
<td>A, C, D</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Required Materials

Textbooks
Selected Sonnets
Hamlet
The Twelfth Night
Julius Caesar
A Winter's Tale
The Merchant of Venice
A Midsummer's Night Dream

Additional Materials
Additional readings and supplementary texts will be provided electronically through Moodle and as printed handouts. Textbook selection is subject to change based on book availability and/or teacher discretion.

Essential Content

We will work together to answer the following questions

- How does a literary canon become constructed? Who constructs it? Why is Shakespeare in this literary canon?
- What are the thematic content, image patterns, and structures of Shakespeare's plays?
- How is literature a cultural construct that produces competing interpretations?
Outcomes
At the conclusion of this course, students will be able to:
• Describe the elements and features of a text using the methods and terminology of literary studies.
• Explain the relationship between a text and literary traditions, movements, styles, genres, and forms.
• Situate a text within historical, social, cultural, theoretical, and philosophical contexts.
• Apply knowledge gained from literature to understand contemporary issues and perspectives.

Instructional Design and Approach
This course will not only require students to develop a much stronger understanding of the language of Shakespeare’s works, but will also promote inquiry by allowing them to participate in contemporary literary debates about canonical literature. Furthermore, students will have the opportunity to improve as public speakers and collaborators as they work in groups to direct, stage, and perform scenes from Shakespeare’s drama. Students will approach their interpretation of Shakespeare’s texts and the literary criticism about his work as they do all other problem-centered experiences.

Student Expectations

Participation
My expectation is that, at least once per class, you voluntarily respond to a question or comment from your teacher or another student. Ideally, you will be even more involved. I want this class to be based on your questions and discussions about them. Students should arrive to class prepared having actively read any assigned readings. Students will also seek out help during office hours on major projects and essay assignments.

Academic Honesty Policy
Please refer to the Academic Behavior Code on page 10 of the Student/Parent Handbook.

Laptops
The default position for your laptop in this class is closed. This means, from the moment class starts, unless I ask you to use it, I don’t expect to see it open. We will use the laptops frequently for in-class work and research and even for online readings, but to the greatest extent possible, this will be a laptop-free class.

This policy likewise extends to all electronic devices such as phones, tricorders, telegraphs, etc.
If you have a special need that requires accommodation in this area, please see me.

Book Returns

During this course, you will be given a number of texts from the English Department’s collection. It is your responsibility to treat these books carefully and to make sure they are returned when asked to do so. Late returns or lost textbooks will result in a penalty to your participation grade, and you will be expected to replace lost or damaged textbooks.

Assessment Practices, Procedure, and Processes

Assignment Descriptions

ESSAYS
During our class, you will be responsible for completing four essays (a formal document typically between 3 to 5 pages in length). Each essay will have a different focus and will cover material from the class. It is my expectation that final submissions are essays that have gone through more than one draft and are not a product of procrastination.

HOMEWORK
“Homework” refers to non-essay assignments completed in and out of class. All homework must be completed by the date assigned. This category will also account for any quizzes or in-class assessments.

PRESENTATIONS & PROJECTS
Occasionally, we will have special projects and presentations. These assignments will typically ask you to radically change your thinking or to engage with your peers through public speaking. More detailed information will be provided in future handouts.

ONLINE REFLECTIONS
For most class periods, you will be asked to respond to a question posted in our Google Classroom. These responses are informal and reflective and typically encourage you to consider some of the ideas we’ve discussed or read about. Some online responses will be required and will be worth homework points. Others will not be directly graded, but will be a strong factor of your participation grade for the quarter. More detailed information about reflections will be provided in another document.

PARTICIPATION
A participation grade will be awarded at the end of each quarter. I will take into account many factors when considering your participation grade. Having meaningful contributions in class helps, but sometimes participation also involves asking questions or seeking out extra help when it’s needed.

Grade Scale
Your grade will be weighted as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Essays</td>
<td>60%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Homework / Daily Work</td>
<td>10%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Participation</td>
<td>10%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Presentations and Projects</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

English Department Grading Guide

- A = Exceeds course requirements (90-100%)
- B = Meets course requirements (80-89%)
- C = Credit awarded but needs improvement (70-79%)
- D = Does not meet course requirements: no Academy credit awarded

Essay Revision Policy

After submitting an essay assignment, you may have the option to revise that essay for an improved grade. Any essay that was submitted on time and earned lower than an A will be eligible for revision.

To revise an essay, a student must arrange for a tutoring session at the Writing Center. After attending this session, students will make significant changes to their draft then resubmit their essay with proof of the tutoring session. Along with a writing center slip, you will submit with your new essay a “changes memo” that describes the work that you’ve done to improve your document. Information about what should appear on that memo can be found on Moodle.

A student who earns a C or lower on an essay must revise that essay and must also meet with me during office hours or by appointment to discuss the assignment. The conference with me must take place within one week of receiving the graded paper. Avoiding a required revision will strongly impact a quarter participation grade.

Once a student has revised and resubmitted their essay, the original grade of the assignment will be averaged with the grade of the revised draft. Students have one week once their essay has been returned to complete a revision. Late papers cannot be revised.

Late Work Policy
“Homework” can be submitted late for half credit up to three days after the due date. In some instances, homework assignments are necessary for a class activity or are entirely dependent on the timely submission of the work. In those few instances, the assignment will not be eligible for late credit.

Major essay assignments are always submitted electronically. Consequently, the electronic submission method will determine whether an essay is late. It is your responsibility to make sure that an essay is submitted on time. Technological mishaps, faulty hard drives, viruses, and other events will not be considered valid excuses. Keep in mind that if an assignment is due at 12:00 am and you submit it after that exact point, the electronic submission platform will flag it as late and it will be counted as late. Please avoid potential mishap and submit your essays with plenty of time to spare. Screenshots, computer logs, witness testimony will not prevent the paper from being late.

The first day an essay is late you will lose the opportunity to revise it. For each day after the first, your essay will lose a letter grade. After five days, the essay will receive a “zero.”

Grade “Bumping”
Officially, the English Department does not round or “bump” quarter or semester grades, and I adhere to this policy. Please do not contact me at the midterm or near the end of the semester with requests to increase a grade.

Response Time on Assignments
It is my intent to return all assignments that receive a grade within two weeks of their submission date.

Policies and Expectations

Winning Strategies for Students

CONSISTENT ATTENDANCE AND PARTICIPATION
All students should be prepared and on time for class. The most effective students will use their enrollment as an opportunity to expand their knowledge about a variety of skills and to improve their ability to write.

RESPECTFUL BEHAVIOR
This is a learning environment, and the class is made up of your peers and colleagues. As such, you will always treat your classmates with the utmost respect and courtesy. Likewise, I expect to receive the same consideration. While it is common to refer to a class by a teacher’s last name, when speaking to me directly, please call me “Mr. Dean.” I won’t respond to anything else.

TIMELINESS AND HONESTY
As mentioned above, you are expected to complete your assignments on time and on your own. Plagiarism and academic dishonesty will not be tolerated in this course.
EFFORT IN WRITING
For written assignments, I expect that the copy you submit for assessment will not be the first draft, but instead, a product of time and careful revision. You typically will get two weeks to write a major essay, and I expect you to use that to create multiple drafts.

Faculty Expectations

GUIDANCE AND SUPPORT
I’m here to help you, and yes, I want you to do well in my class. Never be afraid to ask questions or approach me for advice or extra help. Email is a fantastic way to contact me outside of class and you can always make an appointment to see me during my office hours. But remember, I expect you to take ownership of your education. If you’re confused, talk to me. If you need clarification on an assignment, ask.

FLEXIBILITY AND RESPECT
Just as I expect you to treat each other with interest, compassion, and civility, I strive to do the same for you.

HIGH STANDARDS
Grades in my class are not “given,” they are earned. At IMSA a “B” means that you have met expectations for a class. A “C” grade means that you did not meet expectations, and an “A” grade means you exceeded expectations. I am happy to spend time with you helping you improve your performance and meet the standards you set for yourself.

Sequence of Topics

The following is a guide for what the course will cover. This guide is subject to change, but I will notify you well in advance of any changes.

Week 1: Introduction to Early Modern England and sonnets

Weeks 2-3: Hamlet

Week 4: Hamlet Literary criticism, focus on editorial choices and textual studies

Weeks 5-6: Midsummer’s Night Dream, focus on performance history

Weeks 7-8: Julius Caesar

Week 9: Julius Caesar in- class performance, focus on rhetoric

Week 10-12: Winter’s Tale Literary criticism, focus on historicizing texts; old-historian vs new historicist criticism
Weeks 13-14: Twelfth Night (focus on genre of comedy, formalist and author intention literary theory)

Weeks 15-16: Merchant of Venice (focus on the definition of problem play)

Weeks 17-18: Student performances